

SEPTEMBER 2022

Chamber News

As summer winds down, the Chamber has remained busy! Thank you to Pinnacle Academy for hosting our Coffee Connections in September. Attendees enjoyed a tour of the school as well as a great networking opportunity.

We also enjoyed Happy Hour with our guests from the Willoughby Western Lake County Chamber at The Standard last week. We had more than 25 attendees! The food at The Standard was amazing and everyone enjoyed the atmosphere out on the back patio. If you haven't visited The Standard, you're missing one of the hidden jewels in the neighborhood!

The Chamber also had a nice turnout for our first Learning at the Library Event. Matt Selker brought us a workshop on Psychological Safety that received very positive reviews. There are two more free workshops scheduled. Please visit the Chamber website at www.euclidchamber.com for more information and to register.

Learning at the Library

The Euclid Chamber of Commerce, in partnership with the Euclid Public Library, is offering a series entitled Learning at the Library. Although these workshops are free, registration is required because space is limited.

The first workshop was well attended and well received. We are looking forward to the next workshop that will deal with managing employees in the office and in the field. The next workshop will be held on Oct. 12. The topic is Managing a Hybrid Team.

Great Sponsorship Opportunities!

Are you curious about what's going on in the City of Euclid? What projects have been started? What can we look forward to in 2023? Come to the Community Leaders Breakfast at Lincoln Electric. Mayor Kirsten Holzheimer Gail and Superintendent Christopher Papouras will report on the current situation in the city and the schools and talk about what we can look forward to in the coming months. They will also take questions.

This is a great opportunity to hear from these two community leaders outside of formal council and board meetings. It's also a fantastic opportunity to visit Lincoln Electric.

All are welcome. Chamber membership is not necessary. Register at www.euclidchamber.com

This is a critical time for community colleges to meet our nation's unprecedented challenges. Not only must we contend with the implications and lasting impacts of COVID-19, economic uncertainty, equal justice and opportunity concerns, we must also address the ways in which the demographic drought and great resignation have and will continue to impact the economic landscape throughout America.

In this session, Dr. Baston will discuss how institutions like Cuyahoga Community College must develop deep structural partnerships with business and industry in order to serve as an essential catalyst for economic mobility, workforce innovation and community vitality.
